When you fall in love with something, it's hard to leave it behind. Interior designer Caroline Brackett decided she wouldn't. "I always got so frustrated when I came across a piece I love, but didn't have a spot for it with one of my projects," she explains. In addition to focusing on mid- to high-end residential interior design, Brackett has just launched Curated, a hand-selected online collection of memorable décor, lighting, art, and one-of-a-kind objects. The move is a natural one for Brackett, whose warm, timeless style and collaborative approach have grown her interior design practice to a team of five working across the Southeast.

Brackett's familiarity with the region will guide her search through the best antique stores and vintage shops to source the vibrant mix of home items she spotlights in Curated. For many people, shopping for décor pieces that stand out and tell a distinct yet cohesive story about their home can be overwhelming. Curated offers a shortcut, but a soulful one. "I love each one of these pieces and appreciate them so much. They're what make a room interesting," Brackett says. T

1. MIRRORED PAINTED SCONCES

"These were found at an antique store in Asheville, and I fell in love with them. They are old and were probably candles converted to bulbs at some point. They are perfectly imperfect and would add charm to any room. I envision them in a dining room over a sideboard." $790 for the pair

2. VINTAGE ITALIAN TOLE CHANDELIER

"This hand-painted chandelier is just the sweetest thing. It's something you don't see all the time, which is the whole purpose of Curated. It would be so cute over a breakfast table or in a little girl's room, or really anywhere... it's so versatile!" $750

3. HAND-COLORED CAMILLA PRINTS

"These are sweet prints we found in an antique store and had them framed locally. They are so sweet for a guest bedroom or little girl's room." $550 for the set of three

4. PAIR OF GREEN GARDEN STOOLS

"The color and scale of these garden stools is what drew me to them. It is a vibrant color that would work outdoors or in. These are wonderful as side tables when you are limited on space, or just to add a fun punch of color to any room." $650 for the pair

5. PERUVIAN REVERSE PAINTED MIRROR

"This amazing églomisé mirror from Peru is reverse-painted, a technique that is very beautiful and difficult to achieve. I love the vibrant colors and the life it adds to any room." $1,250
